

Sinclair Broadcasting's choice to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is an obvious example of the dangers of media consolidation. By forcing their stations to air partisan media, they are flagrantly breaking the law to serve public interest by which they are obligated. There is no democracy in Big Media. Media ownership rules need to be strengthened to prevent instances like these from occurring and to communicate issues of substance and relevance to the public. The license renewal process must be more involved. Thank you.
